BL/DIST

Managing the tremendous amount of machine output is one of the data center's most critical and costly concerns. BL/DIST provides the totally automated solution to this complex problem. BL/DIST automatically sends output to the correct person on the correct device. It can group a person's output for bundled distribution, separate output by branch or department, and recreate lost or misplaced output at the touch of a key. It even lets you view output online and then print only selected portions. Current trends indicate distribution problems will continue to grow. BL/DIST lets you handle the load while keeping costs under control.

F E A T U R E S :

- Interfaces with many output devices including page printers, remote lasers, LAN servers, line printers, fiche tape, etc.

- Allows on-line viewing of output with selection commands, such as "find literal", for easy location of desired information

- Allows printing of only selected pages of a report to cut down on printing costs

- Automatically bundles output so that recipients get all their output together

- Internally separates reports so that recipients get only their sections

- Audits all output creation activities and maintains extensive information for each, by user, device, location, etc.

- Supports forms control for page printers

- Tracks backup files on tape for easy reprinting

- Provides a central repository for all distribution information

- Allows recipients to track their own output

- Provides comprehensive reports including distribution summaries, packing lists, general reference reports, etc.

- Uses an on-line, menu driven user interface

- Provides automatic recovery

- Automatically retains print files on tape, based upon varying retention periods, and merges tapes to reduce waste.
